

| Position Title | Assistant Auditor-General | | |
|----------------|--|----------|--------------|
| Role Type | QAO Executive Employment contracts are offered on a fixed term basis, to be negotiated with the successful candidate. Full time | Location | Brisbane CBD |

About the role

As the QAO head of specialist audit activities you will oversee and direct our complex audit components including information systems and technology risk audits, and sustainability assurance. This role develops and leads areas of specialist activities that includes informing parliament on the results of our risk based focussed areas of attention.

You will play an integral leadership role in the office both in terms of shaping the vision and strategic direction of the organisation and ensuring that the Queensland Audit Office is a properly functioning public sector organisation delivering quality audit services to public sector and local government entities and reports to Parliament.

You are integral in supporting the statutory role of the Auditor-General to enhance public sector management and accountability through auditing of public sector entities and local governments and reporting results to entities and parliament. You are the accountable executive, ensuring that financial and performance audit functions are delivered to a high standard, on time and within budget while meeting the needs of our audit clients and our reporting obligations to Parliament.

As a member of the QAO Executive Leadership Team you will provide leadership within QAO to multi-disciplinary teams in the provision of independent audit and assurance services and reporting and the effective leadership of the organisation.

Role responsibilities

In the role of Assistant Auditor-General you will:

- Lead a team to identify and respond to complex public sector risks associated with accountability and transparency, including those associated with information systems, sustainability reporting, and data
- Lead and develop a team of specialists, providing guidance and oversight to ensure high quality audit and assurance work
- Develop and deliver a parliamentary reporting strategy relating your specialist audit activities
- Support the Auditor-General to set the strategic direction of QAO and work collaboratively with other members of the Executive Leadership Team to promote and deliver our objectives
- Identify opportunities for improvement in our audit activities, overall operations and contribution to the public sector
- apply business acumen to ensure the ongoing sustainability of QAO
- promote and model a culture of accountability and transparency with QAO, employing the established QAO values of: Engage, Respect, Inspire, and Deliver
- take reasonable care for your own and others' health and safety; follow health and safety instructions; and support and cooperate with health and safety systems, policies and procedures.

Assessment criteria

For roles within the Queensland Audit Office, assessment is based on the eligible person that is best suited to the position. We will look at your ability to perform the requirements of the role, including the extent to which you have the abilities, aptitude, skills, qualifications, knowledge, experience and personal qualities relevant to the carrying out of the duties of the position. The ideal applicant for this role will be someone who can demonstrate the following key attributes as they apply to the technical responsibilities for the role:

You will be assessed on the following:

- Strong leadership experience and skills, with a proven ability to work collaboratively to deliver organisational outcomes, apply business acumen, and foster an engaged and positive organisational culture
- Extensive experience in auditing and assurance activities, applying public sector and specialist knowledge and skills
- Highly developed critical thinking and problem-solving capabilities, coupled with an ability to provide clear and concise communication and influence outcomes
- Proven ability to establish new ways of delivering, including reforming existing structures and processes
- Demonstrated integrity and a commitment to personal growth and development

Qualifications / Professional registration / Other requirements

Relevant experience at a senior management level is a prerequisite. Possession of an appropriate tertiary qualification in a relevant discipline e.g. accountancy, commerce, business, information systems, economics management is required. Membership of CPA Australia, Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand (CAANZ) or relevant professional bodies is preferred.

Benefits and conditions

- QAO supports work-life balance with flexible working options, competitive salary and benefits (including 12.75 per cent employer superannuation contributions), generous leave entitlements, career progression opportunities and the chance to make a difference to the people and communities of Queensland.
- You will be employed under the Auditor-General Act 2009. Your entitlements are covered within Queensland Industrial Relations Act 2016 and QAO policies and procedures.
- For a full list of benefits, please see our website here: Careers FAQs.

Pre employment checks

- A current criminal history check is required for applicants recommended for appointment.
- Validity of qualifications will be confirmed with issuing institutions.
- Discipline checking may be undertaken on preferred applicants.
- To be an eligible employee, you must be an Australian citizen, have permanent residency status or a visa permitting you to work in Australia. If you are not an Australian citizen you will need to provide evidence of your residency status or visa, with your right to work (including any conditions / restrictions) prior to engagement. You are required to notify QAO if your right to work in Australia ceases.
- Reference checking will be undertaken prior to any offer of employment.

Independence

QAO is the independent auditor of all Queensland public sector and local government entities. Not being independent, or not being seen to be independent, is a significant risk to our reputation and mandate.

Our independence is demonstrated through our integrity, objectivity, impartiality, and professional scepticism.

APES 1—Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants defines 2 types of independence.

- Independence of mind where we can express conclusions without being affected by influences that compromise professional judgement.
- And independence in appearance, whereby we must consider the perceptions of third parties regarding the auditor's independence.

To meet our professional obligations, QAO needs to understand your individual circumstances and relationships and assess whether these could be a threat to independence. Most threats are manageable (e.g. by not being assigned to specific audits), and we can apply safeguards, but we need to know about them.

Successful applicants, on acceptance of an offer of employment, and annually thereafter:

- are required to complete an independence declaration
- must disclose to the Auditor-General any previous employment as a lobbyist in the last 2 years

Employees of the Queensland Audit Office:

- have an ongoing obligation to advise any perceived or actual conflicts of interest that may impact their independence or suitability to undertake the duties of the position
 - are required to complete an annual independence declaration and are required to resolve any conflicts of interest
 - are required to abide by the Code of Conduct for the Queensland Public Service
-

Additional information

- QAO is committed to building a culture that respects and promotes human rights, inclusion and diversity.
- QAO supports a safe healthy working environment and we encourage applications from people with disability. Please contact recruitment@gao.qld.gov.au if you require any support or reasonable adjustments during the application or recruitment process as QAO are committed to providing a positive and equitable process.
- Recruitment processes may be used to fill future vacancies for same or similar positions.
- Travel will be required as part of this role and will generally involve overnight stays.
- A 6-month probationary period may apply.
- Within one month of commencing employment, the successful applicant is required to disclose any employment as a lobbyist in the preceding 2 years.
- Applicants who have accepted a voluntary medical or early retirement, redundancy or retrenchment from the Queensland Government are required to state this in their application.
- Employees are required to complete an independence declaration on appointment and annually thereafter and have an ongoing obligation to advise any interests that may impact their independence or suitability to undertake the duties of the position.
- Employees are required to abide by the Code of Conduct for the Queensland Public Service.

Privacy notice

The Queensland Audit Office collects your personal information and documents relevant to your employment. The collected information will be managed in accordance with the Information Privacy Act 2009 and will not be disclosed to a third party without your consent, unless required or authorised by law.

About the Queensland Audit Office

Our values and purpose

Our culture is underpinned by four core values which inform how we work with our clients and each other.

On behalf of the Auditor-General, we provide insights to over 600 state and local government clients on how to deliver better public services for Queenslanders.

As the state's independent auditor, we are completely unique. We are vital to Queensland's integrity system of government, giving parliament and the public trusted assurance.

Innovation, teamwork and relationships are at the heart of what we do. We use some of the most contemporary practices and tools in today's professional services industry to:

- deliver high quality audit services
- give the public sector insights on their performance, risks and financial management
- report to parliament on the results of our work
- investigate financial waste and mismanagement
- share best practice across our client base and industry.

The public sector operating environment is diverse and constantly evolving, meaning we work throughout Queensland across a wide range of services from health, education, financial services, local government, tourism, justice and many more.

Our workforce

Our people are our most valuable resource and are proud to be part of our diverse, inclusive, and healthy workplace. Our people are key to achieving our vision of better public services and they are dedicated, engaged and highly skilled.

Our workforce is a mix of around 200 employees who are audit professionals, specialists and support team members. We also engage audit service providers to conduct some of our work, and they are an integral part of our business. We are proud to celebrate our diverse backgrounds.

QAO's Executive Leadership Team has shared responsibility for audit excellence, innovation and operational performance. Our operating model enables us to deliver our services as one team, with our Assistant Auditors-General overseeing our performance audits, financial audits and reports to parliament and our Deputy Auditor-General responsible for quality and people.

For more information on our functions and what we are passionate about, visit www.qao.qld.gov.au.